Who is Fatman Scoop?

"Fatman Scoop, Crooklyn Clan!" "Fatman Scoop, Timbaland!" "You got a 50 dollar bill, get ya hands up...Single ladies I can't hear y'all... Single ladies make noise!" Those are some of the Fatman Scoop lyrics we all know and sing along to. He's notorious for shouting his name and requesting that you do whatever he tells you...so put your damn hands up! Scoop's rambunctious baritone hyping a track inspires his audiences everywhere to "Lose Control"!

The 2 time Grammy winner Fatman Scoop's voice is on some of the biggest most recognizable records on Billboard. Scoop has collaborated with award-winning producers and artists like Missy Elliot, Ciara, BabyFace, Busta Rhymes, Timbaland, Sean Paul, Ying Yang Twins, Faith Evans, Nick Canon and the list goes on!

He has performed worldwide, everywhere!! It is easier to name places Scoop has not performed at, versus the places he has. The list is that extensive. Few can captivate a live audience the way Fatman Scoop does & that has allowed him to keep traveling and performing to this day.

Scoop has a history of radio on Hot 97 in New York. The #1 market in the country. He was a DJ/ Co-host of BET's 106 & Park. And at one time, Scoop even had a popular column in Source Magazine called "Scoopology" Scoop has even recorded music for blockbuster films like "You Got Served" and "Save the Last Dance." Currently, you can catch Fatman Scoop broadcasting Full Throttle Radio worldwide every weekend on your local radio dial.
